

British History – Guess the Century

Objective

- To link important events in British history with the century in which they took place.

Equipment

- Enrich School Orienteering Map
- Orienteering control markers
- Activity Sheet
- Answer sheet

Preparation

- Children will need to understand how to write dates (years) in digits. They will also need to know that a century is 100 years.
- Children could do this activity in pairs or small groups.
- Provide each pair/group with a copy of the Activity Sheet and an Enrich School Orienteering Map.
- Explain to children how to complete the Activity Sheet.

Instructions

- The Activity Sheet has a list of important events in British history, each of which is linked to the number of a control point.
- Children choose one of the events from the list. The date the event took place is shown on their Activity Sheet, but one digit (of the century) is missing.
- Children have to fill in the missing digit to show the full date (including the century) in which the event took place.
- They then use their orienteering map to locate the control point that is linked to the event.
- The missing digit in the date has the number from the control marker (1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th) indicated above it. Children fill in the digit to create the full date. They check this against their guess for the date.
- They then choose another event and repeat, until they have guessed and checked the century of each of the events.

Other information

- This activity could follow on from work on timelines of British history.
- Children could choose one of the events from this activity and do some research to find out more information about it.
